Singer of songs, writer of rhymes Righter of wrongs, changer of times
You've found your place, you've planted a seed Right where your deepest love meets the world's greatest need

Chorus

Singer of songs, writer of rhymes

Righter of wrongs, changer of times

You've found your place, you've planted a seed

Right where your deepest love meets the world's greatest need

When you were a kid you picked up a guitar
Don't know why you did, it's just who you are
You looked around, saw a lot that was wrong
So you set out to change the world with the power of song

Chorus

You blew into town four hours ago
Third stop on the tour, five more to go
You stood on the stage, opened your soul
If everyone lived that way we could make the world whole.

Chorus

So thank you for this, this beautiful time,
Such moments of bliss so hard to find.
The songs that you sing, the stories you tell
It's what you were born to do, and you do it so well

Chorus
